

CV Prof. Dr. rer. nat. Oliver Lieleg

Current Position

Since 2011 | Group Leader
Associate Professor of Biomechanics, Department of Mechanical Engineering,
Technische Universität München, Germany

Previous Positions

2010– 2011 | Instructor/Postdoctoral Researcher, Department of Biological Engineering,
Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, MA, USA

2009– 2010 | Postdoctoral Fellow, FAS Center for Systems Biology, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA, USA

Education

2008 | Doctoral Degree (Dr. rer. nat., „summa cum laude“) in Experimental Biophysics,
Technische Universität München; Germany; Supervisor: Prof. Dr. A.R. Bausch

2005 | Diploma in Physics, Specialization in Molecular and Cellular Biophysics,
Technische Universität München, Germany

Fellowships and Awards

2009-2011 | Postdoctoral Fellowship from the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD)

2006-2008 | PhD Scholarship from the Universität Bayern e.V. (Bayerische Eliteförderung)

2007 | Publication Award from the Center of Nanoscience Munich

2000-2005 | Scholarship from the German Academic Scholarship Foundation (Studienstiftung des Deutschen Volkes)

1999 | Karl-von-Frisch Award for Biology

1999 | Award from the Fonds of the German Chemical Industry